DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 31 and 34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claim 31, there is no antecedent basis for “the male connection portions.”

(Claim 28 recites “male . . . connection members” - emphasis added).

Regarding claim 34, there is no antecedent basis for “the transparent sheet”.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1, 2, 4-7, 9-17, 19-28 and 30-33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Callahan et al. (4,693,026).

Callahan discloses a housing 10 having an opening; a light source 27 positioned inside the housing; and a display module for an illuminated display device, the display module comprising a flexible, at least substantially translucent sheet 29. This sheet is non-self-supporting, in that it is supported by a frame. Callahan further discloses a plurality of spaced apart, horizontally disposed divider members 41 positioned on one side of the sheet and each of the divider members being a retaining structure 41b on each of the divider members for retaining portions of display members 19 in a predetermined position; each of the divider members held in place over the sheet by a corresponding one of a plurality of retention members (i.e., the bolts shown in Fig. 3), secured over the sheet in fixed relation on a side of the sheet opposite to the side on which the divider members are located; a plurality of display members 19 positioned between spaced apart sets of the divider members, the display members having translucent portions 39.

Regarding claim 4, part 41b constitutes a rib.

Regarding claims 5, 10 and 19, the screws shown in Fig. 3 comprise a male bolt and a female nut.

Regarding claim 7, the display members disclosed by Callahan are "thin plastic panels" (col. 3, line 65). Such panels will inherently have some flexibility.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 3, 18 and 29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Callahan et al. (4,693,026) in view of Bailey (5,065,537).

Callahan discloses the invention substantially as claimed, as set forth above. However, the sheet is translucent rather than transparent. Bailey teaches that it was known in the art to make such a panel transparent (col. 4, lines 7-12). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to make the panel disclosed by Callahan transparent, as taught by Bailey, in order to allow more light to shine through the sign.

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claim 8 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments filed March 20, 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Regarding Callahan, Applicant places a great deal of weight on the recitation that the sheet is "not self-supporting," and insists that this must be read to mean that the sheet is so flexible that it would not remain upright if held in a vertical position, but would collapse. In other words, that the sheet is flaccid. But the actual claim limitation, i.e., "a . . . non-self-supporting . . . sheet" is fully met by a sheet that is supported by something other than itself, e.g., a frame. It need not be flaccid to meet that limitation.

Conclusion

9. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
